Progress Monitoring

Principals share data, success stories and challenges with school board

Chris Gardea

School board members received a mid-year update from principals during Tuesday's study meeting.

The Elementary and Secondary Schools Progress Monitoring study item was an opportunity for principals to share information on reading and math data, absenteeism, discipline and behavior referrals. The data shared from the building level is based on their school goals aimed at reaching the district's five-year success targets approved last summer as part of the district's new Strategic Plan.

The district is on pace to exceed its reading target established for this year. Math gains are coming in slower. Staff professional development, better understanding of the District response to walkouts

On March 14, 2018, organizers around the country are calling for a National School Walkout at 10 a.m. for 17 minutes in order to address gun violence in schools and encourage enhanced legislation on the matter. Information on social media and websites has been encouraging students and teachers around the country to organize on that day, preferably via a brief walkout.

While public schools and their employees are discouraged from participating in political activism during the school day, Walla Walla Public Schools recognizes first amendment/free speech rights of students. History has taught us the importance of civic engagement and peaceful activism; many such activities having shaped the fabric of our great nation over its nearly 250-year history.

Age-appropriate Response to March 14 Walkout:

High School:

At the high school level, to ensure a safe and orderly environment, we have asked school administration to cooperate with potential participating students to identify a structured plan to be implemented during the 17-minute time frame.

It is important to emphasize student participation on March 14 at 10 a.m. is optional as classroom instruction will continue as planned. This is not a district-sponsored activity. Students who choose to participate will not be marked absent/tardy as long as they adhere to the time frame and behavioral expectations. Students who choose to participate will be expected to make up any work missed during the last few minutes of 3rd period and the first few minutes of 4th period. We encourage you to talk to your high school student about their potential participation. If a decision is made to participate, please reinforce the time, behavior, and missed-work expectations.

Middle School and Elementary School:

At the middle and elementary school levels, buildings will be reinforcing the importance of school safety. Schools will be scheduling their required monthly safety drill and/or holding brief assemblies to reinforce school safety and reporting measures with students.
